

A STYLISHLY COLLECTIBLE CORKSCREW

Inspired by an original 19th-century corkscrew, this contemporary version is both a wine opener and a work of art. Designed by the father-and-son team of Freddy and Jason Gershon, the corkscrew has an authentic warhog tusk (like the original) and a sterling silver or 14K gold endcap. Turquoise, onyx or stainless steel beads conceal the thread pins and add a touch of embellishment. Monogramming is also available. Sterling, $224; gold, $450. Gershon Jewelers, 27 Glen Cove Rd., Greenvale. 516-484-2507

SHARE THE HARVEST BOUNTY

More than 259,000 Long Islanders visit emergency food programs supported by Island Harvest each year. According to a recent study, many food pantries, soup kitchens and emergency shelters see an increase in people seeking food assistance during the holidays. You can help right now. When you receive a free turkey coupon at your supermarket, instead of using it, donate it to Island Harvest. Simply sign the back of the coupon and mail it to Island Harvest, 199 Second St., Mineola, NY 11501. You'll enjoy your feast even more knowing that your donation to Island Harvest's annual Turkey and Trimmings Collection Campaign made the holidays happier for a family in need.

PASS THE HORS D'OEUVRES

Designed by sculptor Michael Updike and crafted individually in Mexican foundries, the casually elegant cast-aluminum Brillante serving pieces from Mariposa combine durability, ease of care and beauty. What more could any smart host or hostess desire? The globe artichoke is imagined anew in a platter, $98, and cheese board, $78. We added a graceful spreader, $17. J. Fitzgerald Home, Stony Brook Village Center, Stony Brook. 631-751-3355. Decorative pumpkins from Meadowsweet in Northport. 631-262-7688
